

Advantages of Speaking English Fluently

The world is speaking English. Novelists, entrepreneurs, doctors, IT professionals; everyone is conversing in English not just at their workplaces but in their social lives as well. English is the most widely spoken language and this makes it an important language to learn.

English is a difficult language to master but is not the only language that is challenging. Several other languages are equally difficult to learn. Nevertheless, the people who are dedicated to learning anything find a way to master it no matter what the challenges are.

English is a little difficult because many common English words are derived from complex Latin, as well as Ancient Greek words. This poses a big challenge for learners.

Furthermore, there are many rules and then there are exceptions to the rules. There are many contradictions, many irregular verbs, complex grammar, pronunciation, and what not. All these things make English a little difficult to learn.

The people who learn English as a second language face a hard time while understanding verbs. There are certain languages that use vague adjectives and verbs to describe anything but in English, there are specific verbs. There are many other things that complicate English.

But, no matter what, it is very important to gain fluency in English these days.

Undeniably English is an important language to learn. Speaking English fluently will benefit you in unimaginable ways. If you are still unaware of the advantages of gaining fluency in English, here we have listed some:

It increases your income

Business needs English. The world is speaking English and to be competent enough, you need to gain fluency in English. In the world of globalisation, adding English to your language skills would be more rewarding than anything else. If you have the right balance of business skills and English fluency, you may get a promotion.

It improves your knowledge and understanding

This is one of the most important reasons to get fluent in English. If you are a learner and want to enhance your knowledge, you ought to learn English as it is the bridge that leads you to the vast world of knowledge. All the literary masterpieces are in English. The latest research papers are published in English. So, if you want to gain knowledge, you need to learn English.

It improves your confidence and communication skills

Of course, you can communicate in other languages but English gives you a certain confidence and you come out as a more impressive individual. There are people who shy away from coming in public just because of the lack of fluency in English. This makes them socially very awkward. To spare yourself from any awkwardness, you must become fluent in English.

It creates an impression

It may sound snobbish but it is the truth. English is a global language and in India, the one who has fluency in English is the one who earns respect in various areas like work and society.

It takes you places

The universal language, English, is spoken in every part of the world. Wherever you go, English would be the only language you can expect people to understand. It bridges the communication gap in every corner of the world. This is another advantage of gaining fluency in English.

It gives you influence, power, and friends

Social media is in English. All the leading websites and applications are in English. All the great novels are in English. If you are fluent in English, you will have influence, power, knowledge, and more friends.

It helps you get higher scores and marks

It goes without saying that the better your English the higher scores you will get in international tests/exams such as TOEFL, IELTS, SAT, TOEIC, DUOLINGO ENGLISH TEST etc. So it is definitely well worth becoming a fluent speaker of English.